Wild Minds

Behaviour Support

What is Wild Minds' Behaviour Support for Families?

Wild Minds are experienced in working with and supporting even the most complex children. They have built a large base of knowledge, activities, interactions and support.

Any support that is arranged is tailored to suit the needs of the specific family but will always follow a targeted plan that can show progress and provide data to support with any SEND reviews or meeting with any agency.

Wild Minds use nature and other subjects to help children learn about their emotions and feelings and to develop positive attachments and ways to communicate.
